Pack 1.

There was once a ragdoll named Sally, who lived in a magical place called Halloween Town. Sally wasn't just a regular rag doll: she was made of color fabrics, stuff with dry leaves and a very kind heart. Even though her creator, Dr. Finkelstein, took care of her like his own daughter, Sally dreamed with being free and help others. She was very smart and knew how to prepare potions with flowers and was always thinking on how to make good in her town.

One day, Sally felt that something wasn't right. Her friend, Jack Skellington, the pumpkin King, wanted to bring Christmas to her town, but that could cause many many problems! Our brave and courage Sally tried to warn him.

Even though no one listen to her at first, Sally never gave up. Thanks to her kind heart and her bravery, she helped Jack to save Christmas and show him the importance of being as you are.

Far far away, somewhere in the tallest mountains in the world, live a hairy and mysterious creature named Yeti. There are some who call him the Abominable Man of Snow, but he is not as terrible as he seems.

The Yeti is big, white as snow, and he loves to walk between the snowy trees with no one to see him. Sometimes he leaves gigantic foot prints on the snow and leaves the rangers wondering, could it be from the Yeti?

Even many thinks he is scary, in reality he is very shy and curious. He likes to watch humans from far away... but he never harms them. He just wants to live peacefully in his frosty home.

And so, each winter, when the snow falls softer, some say they can hear him laughing in the mountains.

PACK 5

There was a boy named Edmundo, who lived alone in a big house up the hill. He was very special, instead of hands he had scissors!

A very good inventor created him, but he didn't have the time to finish his hands. Even so, Edmundo was kind, shy and had a big heart. One day, he came down the town and everyone was surprised. Even though at first, they were scared of him, soon they saw that Edmundo knew how to make wonderful things: he trim bushes in magical forms, he could hairstyle with such class and took care of the gardens like no one else. But since he was different, some people didn't understand him.

Edmundo decided to return home up the hill, where he could continue living peacefully and creating beautiful things in silence. Since then, when the snow falls, it is said that it's due to Edmundo carving ice with his hands, gifting art to the wind.

PACK 6

Coraline was a very curious and brave girl. One day, when moving into a new house, she found a teeny tiny door hidden in the wall.

When she crossed it, she discovers a veery similar world to her own but it was odd and more colorful. There, everyone had buttons instead of eyes.

At first, Coraline thought that this new world was perfect: her “other mom” gave her everything she wanted. But soon she realized that it wasn’t real and something dangerous was hidden there. With her wit and her brave heart, Coraline face her fears, rescue her parents and shut the door for good.

Since then, she learned that true love is not always perfect... but it is real and worth it.
